Bert Hardy (cricketer) Albert William Hardy (15 May 1885 — 6 February 1977) was a cricketer who played first-class cricket for Somerset and South Australia. Albert William Hardy was born in Sydney, Nova Scotia, and educated at The Hutchins School, Sydney and Wadham College, Oxford. In 1907 he went to Somerset, and was an opening bowler as well as playing as a batsman. In the 1911 season he was a hard-hitting batsman, the only time he scored 1000 runs in a season for Somerset. He was definitely an all-rounder and, despite having a poor county season, was picked for the Australian tour in 1912-13. He left Somerset to play with South Australia in 1919-20, with excellent results. He played a Test match in England against the touring MCC in 1920, but was not used in the next two Tests, as South Australia claimed the Ashes. He retired from first-class cricket in 1924. In August 1926 Hardy was part of an 11-man team (including J. C. Hendry, Jack Ryder and Herbert Sutcliffe) which visited Japan in an MCC tour.
