I'm writing a rails server and on a part of the page I'm checking if a boolean field is set and if so, do some stuff. I'm using this: (params[:id]) Which is working but now I also need to check a value (this is what the user may have set or not set) and I was wondering how I would write it? For example, I want to check if: params[:id] == 1 AND params[:myVal] == 1 But I don't know what's the syntax for that. A: So you need to get params[:id] first params[:id] == 1 AND params[:myVal] == 1 is the same as params[:id] == 1 AND params[:myVal] == params[:myVal] since params[:myVal] is nil, then params[:myVal] == nil params[:myVal] == params[:myVal] is the same as nil == nil
